More great deeds

AFTER last week's item about Ian Thorpe's Fountain of Youth charity which helps indigenous kids, I thought I'd mention an upcoming fundraiser for a group that raises money to provide scholarships for Aboriginal kids in remote areas.

Yalari Ltd is the group and it wants to break the cycles of poverty, abuse and hardship by giving children a top-rated education with a full boarding school scholarship at some of the country's best schools.

Adam Spencer will MC the event at St Ignatius on February 23 and generous Jeff McMullen is the keynote speaker (doing it for free, as ever).
